09 Gaodong Tunnel
The Gaodong Tunnel was formerly named Stronghold 20mm Autocannon Company B of Air Defense Battalion, with inspection office number E-092. Currently, it has become an abandoned barracks, which visitors can identify by seeing the previous tank stationing spot next to the entrance. After getting in from the entrance, visitors will see a T junction which on the left leads visitors to a mysterious tunnel seemingly bottomless and darker. Looking out of the tunnel is a beautiful view of blue sky and sea suitable for people fond of taking great pictures!

10 Meteora of Kinmen
E-094 Stronghold "Xiaying · Meteora of Kinmen" similar to Vessel shape fortress is located in the midst of the long coast Route which Yellow Sea Fortress and Zhongxing Fortress can be found along the way, enabling visitors to have in-depth discovery of the beauty of Kinmen's coast Route. Currently, it is one of the exclusive sights in Jinhu. The marks left during wartime become magnificent seals nowadays. Memories in the veterans' mind will surely be recalled upon the visit here.

Cantonese Porridge

As the breakfast option recommended by locals, this type of Cantonese Porridge is stewed until the rice grains become blended with the stock, which is only available in Kinmen. Extra ingredients including ground meat balls, pork liver slices and fish slices are added right before the porridge is served, making the porridge filled with sumptuous contents.

Beef Noodles

When visiting Kinmen, visitors should try the local beef noodles. The beef from yellow cows bred in Kinmen and grew up eating Kaoliang gives a tender and juicy texture, and the noodles absorbing essence of beef has a chewy touch. Both combined shows the great local taste of Kinmen!

Oyster Fritters

Balls made with mixture of thin shredded cabbage and local rocky oysters breaded with batter are deep-fried in the hot oil until golden and crispy. Served with specially made sauce, the Oyster Fritters are favorites to visitors as well as a delicacy lingering in the heads of many locales.

Pot Stickers

Pot stickers glazed with whipped eggs pan-friend until crispy golden. Taking a bite on the egg-scented pot stickers, you can sense the freshness of filling containing slight meat juice spreading in your mouth. A great snack best savored along with a bowl of hot-and-sour soup and other featured snacks.

Yi Tiao Gen

Owing to the oceanic climate and the situation with tendency of wind chill and heavy moist, residents on the island and stationed military forces frequently apply the native health care plant "Yi Tiao Gen", which later becomes the holy grail for regimen popular amongst the masses, with remarks of "Kinmen Yi Tiao Gen edges over the Korean Ginseng".

Gong Tang

Gong Tang is the tribute for offering to the royals at Minnan regions in Ming Dynasty, which features manual pounding and hammering of the peanut candy. With delicate and exquisite taste, melt-in-your-mouth flaky texture, crispy and fragrant feature, as well as authentic and pure quality, Gong Tang Candy has become one of Kinmen's specialties.

Pickled Kaoliang Cabbage

Kinmen Kaoliang lees are added to catalyze the reproduction of lactics which later induce repeated fermentation reacting with Chlorophyllin in Napa Cabbages. The brine in packages contain rich contents of lactics, and had the power of durable preservation of cabbage. Remember to add some brine to the pot to make your dish more delicious through the cooking.

03 Fongshang Patrol Division Fort

Fongshang Patrol Division Fort walls is one of the five Xun Jia Si walls (police station in ancient times) built by Chou De-Xing the Jiang Xiaohou painted in the Hongwu Emperor in Ming Dynasty. The current walls are the renovation in 2013. Due to its winding walls built out of rock bricks, it is referred to as "the Little Great Wall". Overlooking from above the walls, the refreshing ocean blue would meet one's eyes!

04 Fr. Bernard M. Druetto Memorial Park

Involved in warfare, Fr. Bernard M. Druetto came to Kinmen in 1954 and engaged in treating the ones wounded from the shelling. In order to commemorate the priest's contribution to Kinmen, a small Roman arch square was set up here at the site, creating the ambience of a European town. The immaculate color of white extends to the façade, and adjoining is the white gravel trail guiding visitors all the way to the door.

05 August 23rd Artillery Battle Museum

August 23rd Artillery Battle Museum was built in 1988, 30th anniversary of the "August 23rd Artillery Battle". With green tiles paved and columns painted in bright red, this Museum is a building representing a textbook Chinese architecture. There are displays of military aircrafts, cannons and tanks on the left and right wings, making people associate with the great scene of the joint operation by the Army, Navy and Air Force.

06 Wu-Wang-Zai-Ju Inscribed Rock

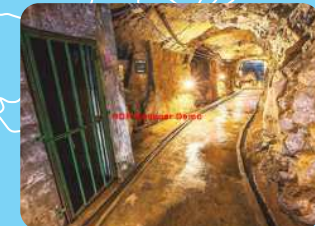

Board Ascend on Mt. Taiwu, and you will find the inscription holding the writing by late President Chiang Kai-Shek "Wu-Wang-Zai-Ju" near to Haiin Temple. These four characters were used to inspire the soldiers and civilians in the battlefield zone, hoping to replicate the tale of pitting the few against the many by Tian Dan from the State of Qi in the Zhou Dynasty-Era. It is one of the most famous landmarks in Kinmen, and it is now a place for visitors to vie for photos.

07 Qionglin Tunnel

The 1,355-meter Qionglin Tunnel is Kinmen's largest civil defense tunnel. The intricate tunnels are densely covered under the Qionglin Village, with 12 entrances and exits connecting important buildings in the village. Visit the Hall and experience the defense facilities used in wartime, and take a battlefield-themed picture in the tunnel!

08 Chenggong Tunnel

Chenggong Tunnel chiseled out of granite ledge is a combination of coastal tunnels and civil defense tunnels. Albeit coming in smaller scale, it has all the needed facilities such as command posts, war defense gun positions, anti-aircraft artillery positions, machine gun fort, bedrooms, and kitchen. Nowadays, with no more austere wartime atmosphere sensed, Chenggong Tunnel and its sandy beaches have become one of Kinmen's most popular places for playing in water in summertime!

09 Gaodong Tunnel

The Gaodong Tunnel was formerly named Stronghold 20mm Autocannon Company B of Air Defense Battalion, with inspection office number E-092. - Nature & Art -

11 Nanshihu Park

Nanshihu Park is located on the outer coast of Luluo Village in the southeast coast of Kinmen. It used to be a mine for excavating underground granite rocks. Subsequently, for environmental protection purposes, the mine was converted into the Nan Stone Trap Park as we know. Marks of the man-made excavation marks contribute a unique beauty to the rock wall, making it resemble the miniature Zhangjiajie. When contrasted with Luluo Bay on the opposite coast, it records the cultural history of the former industry in Kinmen.

12 Xinhu Harbor

Xinhu Harbor is located in the southwest of Jinhua Township. It is one of the three major harbors in Kinmen where largest fishery facilities and operations are located. In addition to traditional fisheries, the Harbor functions as a seaside park for both beliefs and recreation with its bunker resting sections, golden beach area, and Ciluang Temple. The harbor also features a trending check-in spot of tetrapods making your photos taken here Instagrammable!

13 Kinmen County Agricultural Research Institute

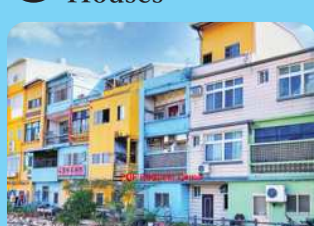

Kinmen County Agricultural Research Institute was established for the main purposes of experimental researches on vegetables, gourds and fruits, ornamental plants, and breeding of improved varieties. In 1997, it diverted its focus to natural ecology and education park planning to create a multi-purpose agricultural operation and introduced tourism and recreation activities for providing teaching activities and for ecological environment improvement.

14 Tai Lake 3D Pedestrian Crossing

The 3D pedestrian crossing is located on the embankment next to the Tai Lake Water Purification Plant in the Zhongzheng Park of Jinhua Township. The couple creators Liao Junjie and Chen Shiyi utilized squares in four simple colors such as black, light gray, dark gray and white to paint a 3D pedestrian crossing with a hope to lower the speed of passing vehicles, furthermore reducing the occurrence of roadkill of otters dwelling nearby.

15 Jinhua Colorful Houses

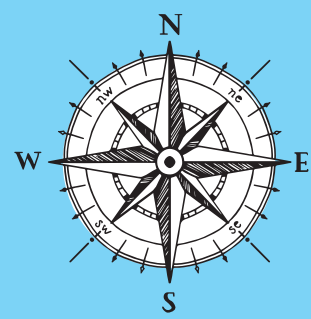

Regarded as "Little Venice of Kinmen", Jinhua Colorful Houses are one of the Kinmen tourist sights trending on Instagram recently. Located at Shanwai in Jinhua Township, its most distinct landmark nearby is the mega duty-free chain Ever Green. Seeing the colorful houses reflection on the river, it makes you feel like you were on the shore of Venice. Never thought exotic ambience could be found in Kinmen!

16 Shangyi Environmental Protection Park

When you visit Kinmen by flying a domestic flight, the first glance of Kinmen are always a large Shisa erected on the high ground, which is the location of the Kinmen County Environmental Protection Park. The Environmental Protection Park was originally an abandoned magnetite mining area. In 1984, through funding of EPA, it was restored to an environmental protection park. Thanks to the efforts by the mass, the environmental protection park is now full of greenery with presence of thrive.
